Egypt Accepts Soviet Aid To Build High Dam

Aswan Second Stage Is Slated To Cost $373 Million Total

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt has accepted Soviet help to build the second stage of its billion-dollar Aswan Dam. The Kremlin already is helping with the first stage of construction.

The official Middle East News Agency said the second stage—including actual building of the dam—will cost $373,000,000; of which $258,300,000 would be needed in foreign exchange to pay for equipment, material and technical personnel from abroad. Apparently the Soviet Union will supply the goods or the exchange on a long-term loan basis.

The agency hailed the new agreement between the Soviet Union and the United Arab Republic as an "admirable victory" for the Arab nation. As a result, it declared, President Abdel Gamal Nasser's cherished project—long a cold war pawn—will be built as one unit with no separation between stages.

The U.S.S.R. already has put up about 100 million dollars in financial aid, machinery and technical assistance to build the coffer dams and diversion canals necessary before construction can begin on the high dam to harness the Nile.

Nasser launched this first stage Jan. 9, yanking a switch which set off 10 tons of dynamite and shattered a rocky bluff on the east bank of the Nile near Aswan, in southern Egypt. Before thousands, Nasser thanked the Soviet Union for financing the first stage after the United States and Britain withdrew an offer of help in 1956.

Cancellation of the U.S. offer—a slap at Nasser—was widely blamed for triggering the Suez crisis last year.

On July 17, 1956, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles withdrew the U.S. offer on grounds Nasser had mortgaged Egypt's cotton crops for purchase of Soviet arms and the Aswan deal thus was a poor financial risk. Nine days later Nasser seized the Suez Canal, up to then an international operation, saying he would use canal revenue to build the high dam.

The Soviet Union quickly moved in and offered to help with the first stage.

A government communique Monday announced that Soviet participation in the second stage of the project would be on the same basis as in the first stage. The U.A.R. is to repay the 100-million-dollar loan for the first stage in 12 equal annual installments, beginning in 1964, at 2½ per cent interest.

The first stage of construction is expected to take about four years. Construction of the 645-foot-high granite dam itself is expected to take another six years, but this period may be shortened by the new agreement linking the two phases of the project.

The high dam will create one of the world's biggest man-made lakes, stretching south beyond the Egyptian-Sudanese border. It is scheduled to produce about 10 billion kilowatt hours of electricity, 10 times more than Egypt now produces, and to expand Egypt's cultivated area by 30 per cent. Sudan also will get more irrigated land through the saving of Nile waters which now drain into the Mediterranean.

School Janitors

Get Quick Offer

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Board of Education Monday night offered a wage increase of $200 annually to janitors and matrons who struck Monday and closed most public schools here.

The board offer of a 5 per cent raise matched the pre-strike demand of Local 118 of the Public School Employees Union. But the board's offer wouldn't become effective until July 1, start of the next fiscal year. The janitors earn from $3.60 to $5.52. Wage scales for matrons range from $2.88 to $3.32.

Business agent George Luetkenholder said the union executive board would probably take no stand on the proposal leaving it up to a vote of the membership.

Two Injured In Crash On Bypass

A driver and a passenger were slightly injured when a tractor-trailer assembly skidded on the ice and struck a bridge on the Route 23 bypass about two miles north of here at 3:20 a. m. today.

The tractor-trailer was operated by James C. Lineberry, 35, Ashboro, N. C. He suffered abrasions of both knees and a slight wrist injury.

Herbert Cranford, 43, Denton, N. C., a passenger, received abrasions of the right knee and slight nose injury. Both were treated at Berger Hospital.

Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff said the truck outfit, headed south, skidded out of control on the ice and jackknifed on the overhead crossing near the Apple House. The deputy said the crash damaged about 50 feet of guard railing along the bridge.

Radcliff said traffic on the southbound lane was delayed about two hours. He said the tractor-trailer assembly was heavily damaged.

Jap Stows Away In Pacific Jet

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first transpacific jet stowaway arrived here Monday.

He identified himself as Hide-masa Nagayasu, 24, of Tokyo, who had left that city 9 hours and 45 minutes earlier on a Pan American World Airways jet clipper. He speaks no English.

Pan American was at a loss to explain how he got aboard the plane.

Nagayasu was taken to a detention barracks to await repatriation. Pan American will pay for it all, under maritime law, including his return fare.

Carole Tied To California Murder Plot

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A childhood playmate of pretty Carole Tregoff says he introduced her to a "shady character" and—

"She wanted to know his capabilities, from murder or any activity like that."

With this testimony by Donald S. Williams, 21, the prosecution opened its attempt Monday to tie Dr. R. Bernard Finch's red haired mistress into an alleged plot to kill Finch's estranged wife.

Barbara Jean Finch, 36, was shot to death last July 18 outside their fashionable home in suburban West Covina. The rich surgeon, 42, and Miss Tregoff, 23, an ex-model and once his receptionist are accused of murdering her.

Miss Tregoff's attorneys lost a spirited fight to prevent testimony — given the county grand jury earlier — about an asserted deal to kill Mrs. Finch for $1,400 offered by Miss Tregoff.

Actor Mark Stevens was quoted as saying he had offered Mrs. Finch a revolver shortly before her death.

He told the Mirror News: "I was so shocked at what she told me about her husband's attacks that I felt she should have some protection. When she refused to take the gun, I got a jackhandle out of the car and made her take it. I told her to wallop him with it."

Despite the widely trumpeted Soviet claims, the demobilization announced by Premier Nikita Khrushchev last week will by Soviet admission bring the Soviet armed forces down to only a little less than America's.

Democratic Congress Maps Shakeup for Ike's Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic Congress signaled it's intention today of recasting President Eisenhower's budget along the lines of its own political ideas.

Prime target in a drive to pare down the over-all $79,800,000,000 spending total forecast for the year beginning July 1 seemed likely to be the President's request for $4,175,000,000 in new money for foreign aid. This included two billion for military outlays.

Although Eisenhower estimated the amount of actual aid spending at $3,450,000,000, he asked for more appropriations to stretch the program out into the future. The quick consensus was that he will get less new money than he expects to spend.

On the other hand, Democrats laid the groundwork to reshuffle and increase the $40,995,000,000 defense program. They showed immediate irritation and disappointment that Eisenhower's space recommendation were not more comprehensive.

In other comment, they balked

U.S., Japan Sign Treaty Of Partnership

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Japan today signed a treaty formally raising Japan, once a defeated, U.S. occupied World War II enemy, to the status of an equal partner in U.S.-Japanese relations.

With President Eisenhower in attendance, Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi signed for Japan and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter for the United States in a House.

Appropriately for historians, the signings took place in the East Room of the executive mansion—the same room where President James Buchanan received the first Japanese envoys when Japan resumed contact with the outside world 100 years ago.

The new defense treaty is similar in many ways to pacts America has signed with 41 other free world Allies.

America recognizes that an armed attack on Japan "would be dangerous to its own peace and safety" and promises to "act to meet the common danger."

Japan cannot pledge reciprocity to help defend U.S. territory in case of attack because her U.S.-sponsored constitutional provision renouncing war is interpreted as barring her from sending troops outside Japan.

But Japan grants use of land, air and naval bases in Japan by U.S. forces without time limit.

The two countries agree to consult "whenever the security of Japan or international peace and security in the Far East is threatened." They also promise to collaborate economically and to settle any disputes between them by peaceful means.

The treaty will last at least 10 years. After that either nation must give a year's notice before canceling.

The new permanent treaty, accompanied by eight side agreements dealing with specific matters, replaces a temporary 1951 treaty which was negotiated while Japan was still disarmed and under U.S. occupation.

Washington in turn is pleased with what it sees as the free choice by Japan, the industrialized leader of Asia to cast its lot instead of taking a neutral or pro-Communist course.

Soviet 'Disappointed' By Ike's New Budget

LONDON (AP) — A Soviet broadcast today called President Eisenhower's new budget a disappointment because it made no cut in military allocations.

"This comes at a time when the Soviet Union once again slashes its military spending," said Moscow radio.

Despite the widely trumpeted Soviet claims, the demobilization announced by Premier Nikita Khrushchev last week will by Soviet admission bring the Soviet armed forces down to only a little less than America's.

6 Students Sacked for Cribbing

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University's Administrative Committee has announced disciplinary action against six students involved in recent circulation of examination papers in advance of the tests.

About 100 other students were flunked in the General Arts course and put on probation for the rest of their academic careers at the state-supported school here. They represent about nine per cent of students taking the course.

The committee permanently expelled Robert E. McPherson of Elyria, a junior, for alleged theft of the examination papers.

The committee also unanimously suspended five other students for from one semester to one year.

Military Assures Congress U.S. Far Ahead of Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department has told Congress the United States is militarily ahead of the Soviet Union and far exceeds the Russians in ability to deliver nuclear weapons on an enemy target.

This rosy defense picture was given last week to the House Appropriations Committee by Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Their revised and censored closed-door testimony was made public today by the committee.

The testimony prompted Rep. George H. Mahon (D Tex.), chairman of the defense appropriations subcommittee, to remark that "this is the most enthusiastic and rosy and reassuring presentation that we have ever had."

While cautioning against complacency, both Gates and Twining criticized what Twining called a tendency "to degrade the capabilities of the American people and the peoples of the free world" and to picture in glowing terms the efforts of the Communist bloc.

In coming summit negotiations, Twining said, "we want to deal from strength. We have terrific strength in the military and in our country."

Twining said he believes the possibility of an all-out nuclear war with the Soviet Union is "very, very slim."

Gates said "there is nothing to justify a belief that the Soviets will make substantive concessions which will reduce our security requirements." On the contrary, he added, the Soviet Union is increasing its military capabilities, particularly in the missile delivery field.

"But the impression in some quarters that the Soviet Union has overtaken or even outdistanced the United States in military power is simply not supported by the facts," he declared.

"Manned bombers are still, for both ourselves and the U.S.S.R., the primary means of delivering heavy nuclear weapons in the volume and with the accuracy needed to strike a decisive blow. In this category the United States far exceeds the U.S.S.R. We have several times more intercontinental jet bombers and more medium jet bombers. . . . We are well ahead of the U.S.S.R. in air-to-air refueling capabilities, air-to-surface missile development, and other important air warfare techniques."

Tench said the plane, which had left Washington for Norfolk at 9:48 p.m., was perilously low and circling, apparently lost in the heavy fog and light rain, shortly before the crash.

"It came pretty near hitting my house twice," Tench said. "The second time it went over it was so low that when I went outside, my whole yard was full of smoke from the engines."

"I went back in the house, and all of a sudden I didn't hear anything. I didn't hear an explosion and I didn't feel a jar."

"All of a sudden, everything was quiet."

Tench went upstairs then, saw the beginning of the fire that subsequently swept the plane, and summoned police.

All of the plane except its tail assembly and a part of a wing, which were torn off by the crash, burned for hours.

The charred trunks of trees protruded upward through the flaming fuselage in which passengers and crew were cremated.

The plane lay in a pit which it had dug when it fell. Several times during the night as rescuers stood vigil, there were small explosions. Police kept hundreds of curious sightseers at a safe distance and blocked roads to the scene.

The crash site was about 30 miles southeast of Richmond on a tributary of the Chickahominy called Sandy Gut. Marshland broken occasionally by small wooded hills stretches from the river for several miles.

46 Passengers Crew Cremated In Fiery Crash

HOLDCROFT, Va. (AP) — A Norfolk-bound Capital Airlines plane, groping confusedly at house-top level in heavy fog, crashed on the side of a marshland ravine near here Monday night. Fifty persons died in the flaming wreckage.

Early this morning, rescuers who had been held back for nearly eight hours by the searing heat finally were able to enter a portion of the hulk to begin removing the bodies of the victims—46 passengers and a crew of four.

Capital reported two of the victims were infants.

The first charred body was removed from the plane at 7:30 a.m. It appeared that few would be identifiable. Police indicated a seat plan of the flight would be used to discover which passenger was in each seat and that the seats would then be tagged to assist in identification.

A crash truck parked near the still smoldering ruins and ambulances stood by to carry bodies to a hospital in Richmond, where the more difficult aspects of identification would be turned over to a medical examiner.

The big jet-prop Viscount, Capital Flight 20 from Chicago to Norfolk via Washington, plunged to earth shortly after 10:30 p.m. — the time she was due in Norfolk.

Only a few hundred yards away was an open field where the plane might have made a safe emergency landing—had the pilot been able to see the field.

"She seemed to come down like somebody pulled a rug out from under her," said Robert H. Tench, whose farmhouse is only about 300 yards from the crash scene near the Chickahominy River. "She came straight down."

Tench said the plane, which had left Washington for Norfolk at 9:48 p.m., was perilously low and circling, apparently lost in the heavy fog and light rain, shortly before the crash.

Stock Mart Continues To Show Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to decline early this afternoon amid scattered resistance to the lower trend. Trading was fairly active.

The top four steelmakers showed plus signs and a few of the motor stocks rose moderately.

Some specially situated stocks made going from fractions to about 2 points. The general run of pivotal stocks, however, remained under selling pressure and showed losses running from fractions to a point or two.

Wall Street remained in a cautious mood and some of the big institutional investors were said to be more on the "sell" than the "buy" side of the market. Nevertheless, an attempt at a rally at the end of the first hour brought an increase in volume. When prices eased again, trading dried up—a favorable sign for the bulls.

Area Persons File Counter Memorandum

Allen T. and Naomi C. Hanes Saturday filed memorandum in the Pickaway County Clerk of Court's office to counter a demurrer filed by the village of Tarlton and Richard E. Hedges, former superintendent of the local branch of the Department of Highways.

The Hanes originally filed a suit against Tarlton and Hedges, protecting the construction of a one-foot concrete slab above a sidewalk adjoining their property.

The Hanes contended that the slab denies them access to the paved portion of the public street and diverts surface water from the street through their premises.

They stated that this diversion of water will in effect lower their property approximately one foot from the street. They asked the County Common Pleas Court to enjoin the Highway Department from further construction, for Tarlton to remove the slab and to restore premises to original condition.

TARLTON and the Highway Department, through their attorney, Don Patterson, Adelphi, filed a demurrer, stating the Hanes showed no cause of action in their suit.

The demurrer said the Hanes could sue the state of municipality but not Hedges, as an individual or as an agent of the Highway Department.

The demurrer also said that the suit's contention that Hedges was contemplating further changes that would be harmful to them was not a cause of action.

The Hanes counter memorandum says that state law requires municipalities to keep sidewalks open and free from nuisances.

They claim that the slab is an obstruction. They also said that Hedges can be sued because he is an agent of the Highway Department, but since he is no longer superintendent here, due to a change in state administration, they will agree to drop his name from the suit. Richard W. Penn, 114½ N. Court St. attorney, represents the Hanes.

Commissioners Return Money

The Pickaway County Commissioners yesterday returned $4,000 to the Ohio Civil Defense Corps.

The amount had been paid the county for the repair of the Crownover Mill bridge in Deer Creek Twp. Meanwhile, the County Commissioners and Engineer Henry T. McCrady had contracted with the Federal Government to replace the bridge.

According to last reports, the Federal Government was ready to match county funds to approximately $50,000 to completely replace bridge, one of two remaining covered bridges in the county.

In other business, the Commissioners waived the five-day waiting period so that Taft Redman could be paid $5 for labor performed at Memorial Hall.

They transferred $1,000 from the county general fund to the auto license and gasoline tax fund. On January 11 the Commissioners transferred $1,500 from the county humane officer's salary to the dog kennel salary of the dog warden.

Stock Mart Continues To Show Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to decline early this afternoon amid scattered resistance to the lower trend. Trading was fairly active.

The top four steelmakers showed plus signs and a few of the motor stocks rose moderately.

Some specially situated stocks made going from fractions to about 2 points. The general run of pivotal stocks, however, remained under selling pressure and showed losses running from fractions to a point or two.

Wall Street remained in a cautious mood and some of the big institutional investors were said to be more on the "sell" than the "buy" side of the market. Nevertheless, an attempt at a rally at the end of the first hour brought an increase in volume. When prices eased again, trading dried up—a favorable sign for the bulls.

Berger Hospital Treats Two

Two emergencies were treated and released at Berger Hospital yesterday.

Marion Gilmore, 23, of 133 York St., injured his left foot when a piece of wood fell on his foot while working in Columbus yesterday.

Lafayette Moore, 51, Washington C.H., injured his left ankle when he slipped and fell on a board walk in Adelphi yesterday.

Area Persons File Counter Memorandum

Allen T. and Naomi C. Hanes Saturday filed memorandum in the Pickaway County Clerk of Court's office to counter a demurrer filed by the village of Tarlton and Richard E. Hedges, former superintendent of the local branch of the Department of Highways.

The Hanes originally filed a suit against Tarlton and Hedges, protecting the construction of a one-foot concrete slab above a sidewalk adjoining their property.

The Hanes contended that the slab denies them access to the paved portion of the public street and diverts surface water from the street through their premises.

They stated that this diversion of water will in effect lower their property approximately one foot from the street. They asked the County Common Pleas Court to enjoin the Highway Department from further construction, for Tarlton to remove the slab and to restore premises to original condition.

TARLTON and the Highway Department, through their attorney, Don Patterson, Adelphi, filed a demurrer, stating the Hanes showed no cause of action in their suit.

The demurrer said the Hanes could sue the state of municipality but not Hedges, as an individual or as an agent of the Highway Department.

The demurrer also said that the suit's contention that Hedges was contemplating further changes that would be harmful to them was not a cause of action.

The Hanes counter memorandum says that state law requires municipalities to keep sidewalks open and free from nuisances.

They claim that the slab is an obstruction. They also said that Hedges can be sued because he is an agent of the Highway Department, but since he is no longer superintendent here, due to a change in state administration, they will agree to drop his name from the suit. Richard W. Penn, 1144 N. Court St. attorney, represents the Hanes.

'Uniquack' Sees No Logic In Presidential Campaign

By JAMES RESTON
WASHINGTON — Good morning, Uniquack, who's going to win the election?

Answer: Kennedy.
Q.— How do you know?
A.— Every President in this century has had a double letter in his name. William McKinley—two M's. William Theodore Roosevelt—two O's. Then there were Woodrow Wilson, Warren Harding, Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover, Franklin Roosevelt, and of course, Harry.

Q.— What about Eisenhower?

Wasn't he President?

A.— We must await the judgment of history on that. And any way, his initials are D. D.

Q.— So you rule out Richard Milhous Nixon, Adlai Ewing Stevenson, Hubert Humphrey, Lyndon Johnson, Stuart Symington and Chester Bowles?

A.— I don't rule them out. I merely state the facts. The Republican might have won with Rockefeller, but they insisted on defying the teachings of history.

Q.— What do you think of the candidates?

A.— They all seem determined to prove that they are what they aren't and vice versa.

Q.— Please go on.

A.— Kennedy, who is young, has bobbed his hair in order to look old. Johnson, a Southerner, says he's a Westerner. Stevenson, a statesman, pretends he's a politician. Nixon, a politician, pretends he's a statesman. Symington, a conservative, votes like a radical. Rockefeller, a rich man, is the poor man's friend. It's all very unscientific.

Q.— I take it you don't think much of human logic.

A.— I haven't seen much of it lately. The President says everything's dandy, and tales another trip. Everybody knows everything's not dandy, but they say it's nice to see the President getting around like that. Dozens of committees study defense, education and housing, and issue millions of words saying we'd better pull up our socks. The President says our socks are just where they ought to be. He adds that he knows more about socks than anybody else, having worn them all his life. And everybody says that's absolutely true. Where is the logic? An election is a judgment on the future and everybody talks about the past. Rockefeller could have clobbered any Democrat in the race, so the Republicans bet everything on Nixon. You ask what Nixon believes, and they tell you he likes Ike.

Q.— And the Democrats?

A.— They are five times as illogical as the Republicans because they have five times as many candidates.

Q.— You don't think much of their campaign?

A.— It's not a campaign but a civil war. Johnson passes the first civil rights bill in eighty years. He blocks the open war against the Supreme Court in the Senate. He maneuvers the censure of McCarthy. So the liberals scorn him a conservative.

Q.— What do you see ahead, machine?

A.— I see a great ceremony on Oct. 14, 1960, the President's seventieth birthday. I see the President with his arm on the Vice President's shoulder. I see the passing of the mantle and I hear the President's voice appealing for continuity, peace and prosperity.

Q.— Anything else?

A.— I see the American people crowded around their television screens. I see the Vice President accepting the mantle and looking very young and appealing, and I can't help thinking what a pity it is he doesn't have a double letter in his name, like G. Mennen ("Soapy") Williams.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Strong northwesterly winds, accompanied by snow showers, brought a return of winter to Ohio during the night.

Wind gusts to 40 m.p.h. were observed at Dayton while velocities of 25 to 30 m.p.h. were common. Roads were slippery over the state this morning and blowing snow reduced visibilities to occasionally below one mile, adding to the hazardous driving.

A winter storm which moved across northwestern Ohio Monday evening is centered over Quebec on this morning's weather map. Cold Canadian air covers the middle of the country. This cold air will continue moving eastward today and colder temperatures are indicated for Ohio tonight and Wednesday.

Snow showers will continue through tonight, with locally heavy snow squalls in the northeast portion near Lake Erie.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 25 at Mansfield to 32 at Chesapeake. Columbus had 29, Dayton and Cincinnati 28, Canton 26.

2-Year Ban Is Sought On Officer-Salesmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legislative ban on defense firm sales jobs for officers and civilian officials just out of military service was prepared for House introduction today.

The bill provides a two-year interval before former defense personnel could sell to the Pentagon. It carries out the main recommendation of a House subcommittee which studied the employment of such officers and officials by defense contractors.

THEY'RE 223 YEARS OLD—"I feel great," says William Klinefelter as he flexes his muscles for his daughter, Mrs. Helen Thomas, on his 102nd birthday. They live in Pittsburgh's Squirrel Hill district. And in Charleston, W. Va., William E. Davis, calendared at 121 years old, receives a Social Security check from Paul Jefferson, district manager. Davis is the nation's oldest Social Security recipient.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Strong northwesterly winds, accompanied by snow showers, brought a return of winter to Ohio during the night.

Wind gusts to 40 m.p.h. were observed at Dayton while velocities of 25 to 30 m.p.h. were common. Roads were slippery over the state this morning and blowing snow reduced visibilities to occasionally below one mile, adding to the hazardous driving.

A winter storm which moved across northwest Ohio Monday evening is centered over Quebec on this morning's weather map. Cold Canadian air covers the middle of the country. This cold air will continue moving eastward today and colder temperatures are indicated for Ohio tonight and Wednesday.

Snow showers will continue through tonight, with locally heavy snow squalls in the northeast portion near Lake Erie.

Temperatures early this morning ranged from 25 at Mansfield to 32 at Chesapeake. Columbus had 29, Dayton and Cincinnati 28, Canton 26.

2-Year Ban Is Sought On Officer-Salesmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legislative ban on defense firm sales jobs for officers and civilian officials just out of military service was prepared for House introduction today.

The bill provides a two-year interval before former defense personnel could sell to the Pentagon. It carries out the main recommendation of a House subcommittee which studied the employment of such officers and officials by defense contractors.

Funds Raising Is Tougher

New York City banks have boosted from 5 to 5½ per cent the interest rate on loans to brokers who extend credit to their customers. The action is regarded as a precursor to further stiffening of interest rates on other forms of borrowing and an ultimate increase in the Federal Reserve discount rate.

U. S. financial circles had been expecting a new round of interest rate increases after settlement of the steel dispute. But to have the spiral starting so soon after declaration of steel peace came as a surprise.

During the 116 days of the steel strike inventories were liquidated fast and the credit thus realized was made available to banks for lending purposes. Now manufacturers are beginning to recall this credit to rebuild their stocks.

Furthermore, now that uninterrupted production in the nation's key industry has been assured for the next 30 months, businessmen again have taken up plans for new plants and improvements. All this adds up to a heavy backlog for credit. Borrowers may find it more difficult to obtain funds.

A further rise in interest rates adds of course to the cost of doing business, and this is one aspect of the inflationary pressures set loose by the peace terms. No wonder there's something special about steel.

Youngsters Are Apathetic

How long can folks talk the same stuff and not get tired of it? That is the question that bothers the Russian Communist Party. It also bothers all the American Communists. It also bothers the anti-Communists and the anti-anti-Communists. So they get apathetic.

The youth of Russia are apathetic and their overlords apathetic and their overlords write a 7,000 word ukase to tell them not to be. We do not go in quite for anything that size. We do some Progressive Jazz or sharpen a Beatnik note here and there. So what?

Youth everywhere wants to know what it is all about. This is a curious age which I, who tell it straight, can fathom for the kids. Some in my line are younger than I am but they got lost getting old. They do not realize that when old folks die other take their places and the others have brains, too. We had to read Milton and Shakespeare and know all about kings and such. The kids read about atoms and x's and y's and say I will all blow up one day. So what?

That's the chorus, that so what? And that is what we oldsters have to answer when asked. We cannot just say that the youngsters are dopes. How can they be dopes if they can add an x and a y and make a missile that hits the moon? We never could hit the moon.

We could only sing about the moon and rhyme it with spoon, but the youngsters they dug deep in that spoon stuff and say, what!

spoon got to do with moon? Freud said it isn't so and Freud must know because he was scientific and if you're not scientific, how can you ever hit the moon?

So you ask, who wants to hit the moon and what comes from hitting it except that if you can hit the moon you can sure hit Moscow, if that's what you want to do. But if the Russians can hit the moon, they sure can hit New York.

That's cool, man! Those Americans, they can't even speak rough to Castro—will they do anything about Russian missile practice in the Pacific? Why not practice on the moon? Why so? The moon is cold. Honolulu, capital of the 50th State of the Union, that's some place with hibiscus and hula hula girls and Harry Bridges and all that goo.

What a lovely place for commissars to winter themselves! Far better than down in the Crimea where Stalin loved to go to warm his frozen blood.

So we, youngsters, are apathetic! We have heard since we were born that Lenin is the biggest guy on Earth since God made Adam, which Lenin said was opium for the masses. All right! So that's opium for the masses. So what do you want to make of it? You want the masses should chuck God and be without opium? All right! So what do you pay? Good food? Swell clothes? Pretty chicks? What does one get instead of opium for the masses? Karl Marx, with his whiskers sticking out all over? Is that the reward for giving up everything else?

It's like getting excited over who's to be president, Nixon or Kennedy, Symington or Humphrey, or maybe Stevenson who talks like he once read a book. What's to get excited about?

Here it's like this; over there, they have Khrushchev and he lives without competition. So, what makes him a champ without competition? If there is no competition, how does he know he's good? If there were only one fiddler in the whole world, who would go to a concert?

By George Sokolsky

I ask questions. You answer. The world is growing cold about politics and economics and war and peace and who is bigger and who is smaller. The world is tired of alibis and explanations and great causes and politicians.

This is not the beat generation; it is the tired generation. Maybe that is why Khrushchev and Eisenhower travel so much. They want to go to underdeveloped places where people are hungry but not tired. They still want to hear them cheer—hear them scream their heads off. Not that cold, worn, tired, bored Progressive Jazz played on a bass fiddle.

We are not beat yet. We are only tired of politics and politicians. Still and all, who you gonna vote for?

Immune To Certain Ills

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.
Immunity is a strange thing. It would be very handy if we could just sit back and cite the Fifth Amendment for protection, whenever a disease germ approached us. But, of course, such foolish actions wouldn't do us any good at all.

A single attack of some diseases usually provides the victim with immunity from a second attack. Other illnesses can hit you again and again and again.

Fortunately, medical science has developed vaccines that will provide us a good deal of protection from some of our more serious diseases.

Most of the children's diseases carry immunity against a second attack. One bout with chickenpox, mumps, measles and German measles, for example, ordinarily insures the patient against any further trouble from the same disease.

So does an attack of whooping cough. Some of the more serious diseases — smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria and polio — also offer a high degree of immunity from subsequent attacks.

With the Salk vaccine and other vaccines, we can confer immunity — not 100 per cent immunity, of course — against even the original attack of polio, smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough.

Since these diseases are apt to present the greatest danger to children, I suggest that all children be given the protection these vaccines afford by the time they are six months old. Many doctors prefer to begin the inoculations at a younger age.

We know now the value of the fourth or "booster" shot of the Salk vaccine. Booster shots also are recommended to prevent diphtheria and the small-pox vaccination should be repeated when your doctor deems it advisable.

Other fairly common diseases such as the ordinary cold, pneumonia and influenza, which are especially prevalent right now, offer no lasting immunity to further attacks.

If you are stricken with a particular cold virus, you may be fairly immune to another attack from the same virus for a couple of months, but you have no protection against other types of cold virus.

Question and Answer
Mrs. C.: Can you tell me of any medicine that will improve circulation?

Answer: "Improve circulation" is a vague term with no accurate medical meaning. It may refer to improving heart action, in which case certain drugs may be needed. On the other hand, it may mean improving the blood flow in a certain area, such as the leg or the brain. Certain medicines may do this by dilating the blood vessels. Your doctor can best prescribe condition.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The one subject on which the American public knows practically nothing is defense needs. It has become a specialty for experts. And the experts disagree among themselves.

For example, President Eisenhower and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, don't see eye-to-eye at all although both spent most of their lives in military service.

When Eisenhower asked Congress in his budget message Monday for 41 billion dollars for defense next year, the reaction was as predictable as saying Monday follows Sunday.

The Democrats raised questions about Eisenhower's defense wisdom and foresight. The Republicans defended him.

It has always been a good arguing point and this year will have a little extra attractiveness since it's a presidential election year. Eisenhower has set himself up as practically the most expert of experts on defense needs. He told his news conference last week that on this subject he knows more than almost anybody.

Is that so? Gen. Taylor, now a civilian, wrote a book, "The Uncertain Trumpet," to show his disagreement with the defense needs thinking of the Eisenhower administration. It was published this month.

Taylor complained the budget, or economy-mindedness, and the idea of massive retaliation have so dominated the administration's planning that the Army has been relegated to a minor role with diminished manpower. He said this leaves too little room for discouraging and deterring small flareups.

This is only part of his book's criticism.

The innocent bystander, who figures to get his skull fractured if in time of a showdown American military planning in 1960 wasn't good enough, can only wonder.

For instance, the administration has almost chilled to death the concept of the B70 bomber, designed to carry hydrogen bombs at 2,000 miles an hour. The administration has canceled production orders and limited the program to development of two B70 planes.

Why? Because of the development of ballistic missiles. This was just about the same explanation Premier Nikita Khrushchev gave last week when he said the Soviet Union was discontinuing the manufacture of bombers.

He said the U.S.S.R. was developing fantastic new weapons.

The Democrats have wondered, of course, whether Eisenhower was thinking urgently enough about matching Soviet military development or whether he was so anxious for economy as to be penny wise and pound foolish.

FATHER KELLY was an enthusiastic, if erratic, golf player. Approaching a guarded green one afternoon, he was advised by a caddy to use a number three iron. "I think I can make it with a number four," decided Father Kelly. "I'll take a full swing—and pray."

The ball plopped into a trap shoot of the green. "I guess," sighed Father Kelly, "the good Lord didn't hear my prayer."

"Could be," said the caddy, "but in church, when we pray, we keep our heads down."

The collector of taxes in a Westchester community asserts that, from a political point of view, his family must be the most mixed up in the country. "I'm a Republican," he explains. "My wife's a Democrat, my kid's wet, my cow's dry, and my cat's on the fence."

They do not realize that when old folks die other take their places and the others have brains, too. We had to read Milton and Shakespeare and know all about kings and such. The kids read about atoms and x's and y's and say I'll all blow up one day. So what?

That's the chorus, that so what? And that is what we oldsters have to answer when asked. We cannot just say that the youngsters are dopes. How can they be dopes if they can add an x and a y and make a missile that hits the moon? We never could hit the moon.

We could only sing about the moon and rhyme it with spoon, but the youngsters they dug deep in that spoon stuff and say, what!

spoon got to do with moon? Freud said it isn't so and Freud must know because he was scientific and if you're not scientific, how can you ever hit the moon?

So you ask, who wants to hit the moon and what comes from hitting it except that if you can hit the moon you can sure hit Moscow, if that's what you want to do. But if the Russkies can hit the moon, they sure can hit New York.

That's cool, man! Those Americans, they can't even speak rough to Castro—will they do anything about Russian missile practice in the Pacific? Why not practice on the moon? Why so? The moon is cold. Honolulu, capital of the 50th State of the Union, that's some place with hibiscus and hula hula girls and Harry Bridges and all that goo.

What a lovely place for commissars to winter themselves! Far better than down in the Crimea where Stalin loved to go to warm his frozen blood.

So we, youngsters, are apathetic! We have heard since we were born that Lenin is the biggest guy on Earth since God made Adam, which Lenin said was opium for the masses. All right! So that's the opium for the masses. So what do you want to make of it? You want the masses should chuck God and be without opium? All right! So what do you pay? Good food? Swell clothes? Pretty chicks? What does one get instead of opium for the masses? Karl Marx, with his whiskers sticking out all over? Is that the reward for giving up everything else?

It's like getting excited over who's to be president, Nixon or Kennedy, Symington or Humphrey, or maybe Stevenson who talks like he once read a book. What's to get excited about?

Here it's like this; over there, they have Khrushchev and he lives without competition. So, what makes him a champ without competition? If there is no competition, how does he know he's good? If there were only one fiddler in the whole world, who would go to a concert?

By George Sokolsky

I ask questions. You answer. The world is growing cold about politics and economics and war and peace and who is bigger and who is smaller. The world is tired of alibis and explanations and great causes and politicians.

This is not the best generation; it is the tired generation. Maybe that is why Khrushchev and Eisenhower travel so much. They want to go to underdeveloped places where people are hungry but not tired. They still want to hear them cheer-hear them scream their heads off. Not that cold, worn, tired, bored Progressive Jazz played on a bass fiddle.

We are not beat yet. We are only tired of politics and politicians. Still and all, who you gonna vote for?

U.S. Civilians Send Spending To New High

Interest Payments On Federal Debt Rocket on Upward

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — It's the civilians, not the military, that are sending next year's federal spending to a new high. And another big factor is the steady climb in interest payments on the record federal debt.

It's increased income tax payments by individuals and corporations that is sending hoped-for receipts to a still higher figure.

President Eisenhower in his fiscal budget proposes to spend about the same for national security in the fiscal year starting July 1 as in the current one.

But he is expecting the Treasury to spend 9½ billion dollars in interest on the 292 billion dollar debt — even though he hopes to shave that debt next year. The new interest spending would be 200 million dollars more than in the fiscal year, and nearly two billion dollars more than in the fiscal year that ended June 30, 1959.

That's because the debt has climbed steadily and because interest rates have, too.

In fiscal 1961 the Treasury will put out for interest 12 cents of every dollar it spends.

The new budget also calls for a 300-million-dollar increase in payments to veterans; 128 million more for labor, welfare and education; 38½ million more for reclamation; 950 million more for various forms of U.S. mutual security programs; and 510 million more by the Agriculture Department for such things as crop price supports.

The new spending and income figures are awesome enough in themselves — a budget figure of 79½ billion dollars for spending and 84 billion dollars in hoped for income. But that is only part of what the Treasury actually will take in and put out.

Some of its collections and payments don't get into the budget at all. They include such things as social security, unemployment compensation, and highways.

Add them in, and Uncle Sam may find himself collecting from his nephews 102½ billion dollars, if all goes well, and spending 96 billion. This would leave a cash surplus of six billion dollars. Part of that would accrue to the special funds for which the Treasury collects and pays out. It would still leave the President some 4½ billion budget surplus dollars to apply to the debt.

The Treasury expects to collect all that money, because Uncle Sam's nephews are believed due to have their most prosperous year.

It expects the total dollar value of all goods and services produced in 1960 to rise 30 billion dollars over 1959 to a record 510 billion dollars.

Out of this the Treasury expects individuals to increase their own take by 20 billion dollars to 380 billion. It looks for corporation profits before taxes to rise by 3 billion to a total of 51 billion dollars.

And the Treasury wants neither individual nor corporate income tax rates pared. It even hopes for a higher tax on gasoline and higher postal rates.

State Patrol Fine Totals Show Increase

Total money collected in Pickaway County in 1959 through State Highway Patrol fines and bond forfeitures amounted to $10,032.84, according to State Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The money collected in Pickaway County stemmed from traffic violation arrests by the State Highway Patrol. Most cases here are handled in Circleville Municipal Court.

The State Highway Patrol's total fines and bond forfeitures in Ohio reached a new high for a single year with $2,733,129 collected, Rhodes said. This was an increase of $91,647 over the total for 1958.

Of the total the state received 45 per cent which amounted to $1,229,908. Local governments retained the other 55 per cent which totaled $1,503,221.

THE state's 45 per cent share of highway patrol fines goes into the general revenue fund of the state. The 55 per cent retained by local governments is divided between the local street fund and the general fund.

In contrast to the previous year, highway patrol fines were much heavier during the second half of 1959 than they were during the first six months.

'Venus Look' Is Portrayed By Fashions

NEW YORK, (AP) — Sex is here to stay, says Oleg Cassini, explaining the purpose of his spring collection to 25 weary editors coming down the home stretch of a crowded week of fashion showings.

Cassini's clothes for 1960 were inspired by the Venus de Milo, he says, and should give the Venus look to any woman who wears them. From trim, covered-up career-girl outfits in discreet sheer wools and silks to daringly revealing after-five dresses, his new fashions are designed to glorify the female form.

"What other reason is there for a dress?" asks Cassini.

Many of his new daytime dresses, slender and closely fitted, utilize black braiding and binding and crisp white dickey or bib fronts. Cocktail and evening dresses are likely to have peekaboo cutouts in the region of the bosom.

Pauline Trigere presents dramatic proof that a good dress never goes out of style with a parade of favorite designs from her collections of the past 10 years. Any one of them would look correct today, with minor adjustments of length. She herself wears a bronze beaded sheath made in 1953, just to accentuate her point.

Trigere's spring collection features capelike "canopy" sleeves, which end at the elbow or above, giving a new look to dresses, suits and coats.

Scalding Conviction Is Upheld on Appeal

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals today upheld the conviction of Mrs. Rita Roubidoux, who was sentenced to 1-20 years in the scalding death of her 7-year-old daughter.

Mrs. Roubidoux, 31, was convicted of manslaughter last June and was sentenced to the Ohio State Reformatory for Women.

She was accused of punishing her stepdaughter, Bonita, by forcing her to sit in a tub of scalding water last April 1. The girl died the next day.

'DEAD' RINGER — Max Hardy, 23, writhes on the sidewalk in Indianapolis, Ind., as police subdue him after a chase from a jewelry store, where Hardy snatched away a $1,000 ring. Police said Hardy was believed to be under the influence of dope. At least, he was one.

Slayer of Fellow Con Gets Governor's Mercy

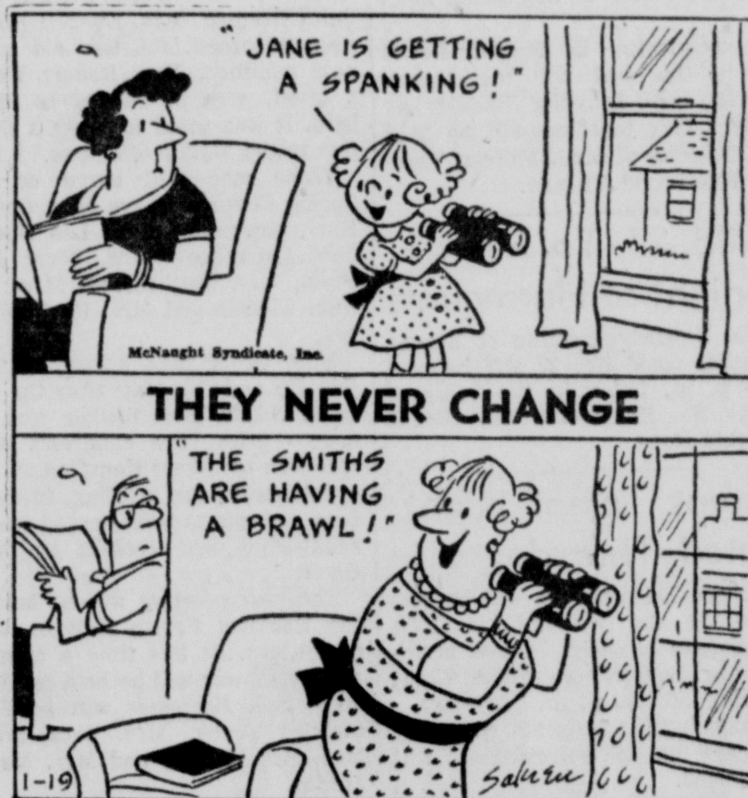

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has commuted the first-degree murder sentence of James Bryant, 51, convicted of slaying a fellow inmate at the London Prison Farm in 1935, to one for second-degree murder.

Bryant, who was serving a 10-25-year sentence for armed robbery, stabbed Joe Wilson following an argument at the prison farm. The commutation makes Bryant eligible for parole consideration.

Painesville Athlete Enters Innocent Plea

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — James Tacaks, 17, a football star at Harvey High School here, pleaded innocent to a first-degree murder indictment in Common Pleas Court today. No trial date was set.

He is accused of striking and killing Raymond Williamson, 20, of Madison, during a fight here Dec. 17. Williamson suffered fatal injuries when he was knocked down by Tacaks and hit his head on a curb, authorities said.

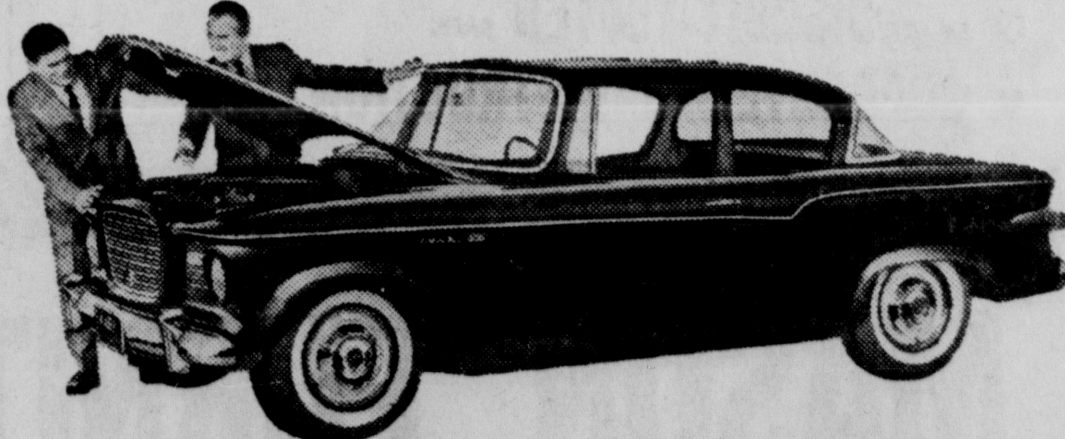

Correction — The Pickaway County Board of Education re-organized Saturday instead of the County Board of Elections as incorrectly stated in yesterday's Herald.

Civilian Employees Get Military Trial Curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that civilian employees of the armed services and civilian dependents of military personnel overseas cannot be subjected to military trial.

The court extended a 1957 decision in which it had held that dependents of military personnel could not be court-martialed for capital crimes overseas.

Today's decision extended the ruling to include civilians accused of lesser crimes.

Anti-Hoffa Bloc Wins in Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — The avowed anti-Hoffa faction of northeastern Ohio's Local 377 of the Chauffeurs, Teamsters and Warehousemen's Union appeared to be in control after a weekend election that produced 200 contested votes.

The leader of the anti-Hoffa group, Secretary-Treasurer John J. Angelo, was re-elected with a margin of at least 341 votes. Angelo's re-election and the election of four of his supporters to other top posts would give the anti-Hoffa forces a 5-2 majority on the board, if the contested votes prove ineffective.

Of the seven places on the board of control, only two others appeared certain. President Robert Higham Sr., considered a supporter of Teamster President James Hoffa, was re-elected along with trustee Abe Schwartz, also in the Hoffa camp.

Less certain was the election of Angelo backers William Gaw, as vice president, Jack O'Neill, as recording secretary, and Joseph San Martino and Joseph Carely, as trustees.

Balloting in the election, postponed for more than a year because of disagreement over eligibility of certain candidates, was conducted in Ashtabula, Warren, Painesville and Youngstown, the local's headquarters city.

Civilian Employees Get Military Trial Curb

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that civilian employees of the armed services and civilian dependents of military personnel overseas cannot be subjected to military trial.

The court extended a 1957 decision in which it had held that dependents of military personnel could not be court-martialed for capital crimes overseas.

Today's decision extended the ruling to include civilians accused of lesser crimes.

ville Forum" being formed, although lasting only a year or so. Continuing, she told that not until 1830 is there a record of similar organization, "The Circleville Antheneum", of interest as the forerunner of our public library.

In 1834, this club was incorporated by the Ohio Legislature as an "Institution for the dissemination of knowledge through the channels of reading, discussion and lectures." Men only were members of these early organizations.

In 1869, a Y.M.C.A. was established with a magazine reading room and books.

During the winter of 1889-90, several Circleville ladies enjoyed a series of lectures on English literature and at the close of the course, decided to form a club for the study of history and literature. The plan resulted in formation of The Monday Club. A constitution was adopted in September, 1893, and Miss Alice Pedrick was elected president.

The Monday Club became a member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in 1893. When a State Federation was formed in 1894, the club became a charter member and has been represented at every state convention since that time. The organization has had members placed on important committees. It has had a district president, Miss Nell Weldon, and finally a state president, Mrs. Ray Davis. This club has been prominent in local civic affairs during the seventy years of its existence.

Mrs. Will began her topic with explaining how little we know about the life of the people before us.

She stressed the importance of factual records and what could be more historically valuable than each day's news stories as printed in daily papers.

She discussed paper stock, telling that the material largely used prior to 1880 was rags which had lasting qualities.

In July, 1786, a paper appeared west of the mountains. Known as the Pittsburgh Gazette. It was established as a weekly. The first newspaper published in Ohio came from the hand press of one William Maxwell, a Revolutionary soldier, who set up shop in Cincinnati. The first issue appeared on November 9, 1793.

Robert Wheeler's book on Ohio newspapers states that in Pickaway County, the Circleville - Union Herald was in continuous publication from 1818 to 1950. The Circleville Herald was the local daily paper from 1927 when the Galvin interests bought all other papers of the county.

Mrs. Will told of many old publications of this community. The Fredonian and The Olive Branch and of their struggles to deep going. The Ohio Observer soon appeared as a rival, this paper being the nucleus about which grew The Watchman. Three newspapers served this community about 40 years ago. They were The Circleville Union - Herald, The Herald and the Democrat and Watchman.

In conclusion, Mrs. Will said: "The history of our newspapers in this locality is creditable. Our publishers seem to have known that to deserve the freedom of the press, they must make their papers honestly representative of the people and that they must forever strive toward the goal of public welfare."

Mrs. George Barnes showed many interesting exhibits pertaining to the talks, discussing the programs of the early clubs, and newspapers in the formats of days long gone.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Presence, not Presents, Dad

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy with a big problem. I can't talk to my Dad because he is my problem.

I am pretty good at sports and made the baseball team last spring, and this year I made the football team at school. All the other boys have their Dads come to watch them play. My Dad has never once seen me play. He has the kind of job that takes him out of town better than half the time. He says he is working for his family but, Abby, we would rather have him home and making less money than have him gone so much.

How can I make him understand that I would just as soon wear a second-hand suit if only he would stay home and be a Dad like other boys' Dads?

FATHERLESS
DEAR FATHERLESS: Dads aren't mind-readers. Tell him how you feel. Dads who travel for a living are frequently able to arrange their schedules so that they can be at home for "special events". Perhaps if you talked this over with your mother she could help you convince your Dad that his "presence" at home NOW is more important than his "presents" later.

DEAR ABBY: I have a brother-in-law who is so ignorant it isn't even funny. He signed all their Christmas cards "JOE AND MARGARET". Shouldn't the lady's name always come first?

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: Not necessarily. It is correct to address letters "MR. AND MRS. BLANK". So why not sign a card, "JOE AND MARGARET"?

DEAR ABBY: There should be eleven Commandments. The eleventh being: "No man shalt take his wife to live next to his mother." I always thought talk about mothers-in-law was a lot of foolishness, but I learned better after living next door to mine for a year.

She is very nosy and tries to find out things that don't concern her (from my husband) when I'm not around. She carries tales from one daughter-in-law to another and when she has us all fighting she says what a pity it is that we can't get along. She has said things about others in the family while I kept my lip buttoned and then she said I said these things. Do I have a right to tell my husband that either WE move or I move without him?

FED UP
DEAR FED: You have. With a mother-in-law like yours, "distance lends enchantment".

Do you have a problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this newspaper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Farm Bureau Ladies Discuss Spring Tour

The January meeting of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau Women's Committee was held at the Farm Bureau Home yesterday afternoon. Five councils were represented at the meeting. Mrs. J. B. Stevenson, chairman, presided. Matters on the agenda included the current Farm Bureau Membership Drive and the Farm Bureau annual meeting scheduled for January 30th.

The ladies discussed plans for the annual Farm Bureau Women's tour to be held in the spring. They plan to ask their councils for suggestions for places to visit and times for the trip. Twenty-nine local folks enjoyed the excursion by chartered bus in 1959.

A great deal of interest was expressed in the problems of mental health and the group planned to have a representative at the February meeting of the Women's Committee to explore these problems as they relate to Pickaway County.

Those present and the councils they represent were Mrs. Harold Fisher - Frankway, Miss Mary Shortridge and Mrs. Forrest Short - Jackson, Mrs. Anna M. Hedges - Mondamin, Mrs. Elmer Seigle and Miss Gladys Vause - Oak Grove and Mrs. Stevenson, Wayne. Organization director, Don Politt, also attended.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Presence, not Presents, Dad

DEAR ABBY: I am a 14-year-old boy with a big problem. I can't talk to my Dad because he is my problem.

I am pretty good at sports and made the baseball team last spring, and this year I made the football team at school. All the other boys have their Dads come to watch them play. My Dad has never once seen me play. He has the kind of job that takes him out of town better than half the time. He says he is working for his family but, Abby, we would rather have him home and making less money than have him gone so much.

How can I make him understand that I would just as soon wear a second-hand suit if only he would stay home and be a Dad like other boys' Dads?

FATHERLESS
DEAR FATHERLESS: Dads aren't mind-readers. Tell him how you feel. Dads who travel for a living are frequently able to arrange their schedules so that they can be at home for "special events". Perhaps if you talked this over with your mother she could help you convince your Dad that his "presence" at home NOW is more important than his "presents" later.

DEAR ABBY: I have a brother-in-law who is so ignorant it isn't even funny. He signed all their Christmas cards "JOE AND MARGARET". Shouldn't the lady's name always come first?

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: Not necessarily. It is correct to address letters "MR. AND MRS. BLANK". So why not sign a card, "JOE AND MARGARET"?

DEAR ABBY: There should be eleven Commandments. The eleventh being: "No man shall take his wife to live next to his mother." I always thought talk about mothers-in-law was a lot of foolishness, but I learned better after living next door to mine for a year.

She is very nosy and tries to find out things that don't concern her (from my husband) when I'm not around. She carries tales from one daughter-in-law to another and when she has us all fighting she says what a pity it is that we can't get along. She has said things about others in the family while I kept my lip buttoned and then she said I said these things. Do I have a right to tell my husband that either WE move or I move without him?

FED UP
DEAR FED: You have. With a mother-in-law like yours, "distance lends enchantment".

Do you have a problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this newspaper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Myers, Walters Battling For Scoring Leadership

The eighth week of the Pickaway County individual cage scoring finds Darby's Tommy Walters narrowing leader David Myers' margin.

Myers maintained mastery for the eighth consecutive week with a 24.9 average, but the Trojans' Walters increased his average to 23.8 points per game.

The Williamsport ace fell nearly a point off his usual average when personals forced him to retire early in Friday's Pickaway tilt and settle for 14 points.

Walters blazed away for 25 markers against Walnut as his Trojan squad upset the league co-leader, 76-74.

IN THIRD place is Ashville's Bobby Hoover on the basis of a 22.1 average. The sensational pivot man played a little more than two quarters last Friday against Scioto to run up 19 points as his Bronco quintet broke a 16-year-old school record by tallying 111 points.

Atlanta's Ronnie Morris held on to fourth place with a 20.4 average while Darby's Tommy Liff remained in fifth spot with a 19.6 average after being derailed a week with a head injury.

His week's lay-off was noticable when held to 11 points against Walnut. Sixth place remained in the hands of the Tigers' Tom Harber with a 19-point average.

Monroe's Steve Fullen retained his seventh place standing with a 17.5 average. Eighth position was held by teammate Larry Bigam with a 16.7 average.

Breathing hard behind Bigam is Ashville's Tom Rathburn with a 16.6 average. Jackson's Eitel increased his hold on tenth place with a 14.8 average, jumping half a point this week.

Players just missing the elite 10 were Pickaway's Ralph England, 12.9; Scioto's Bill Hoover, 12.7; Monroe's Roger Mowery, 11.8, and Saltcreek's Denny Valentine, 13.8.

Circleville Independent basketball resumes Thursday with three games scheduled at the Fair grounds Coliseum.

League standings tightened last week, with first round winners Veterans of Foreign Wars suffered their second upset in two weeks.

Despite Loss, Cincy Is No. 1

Bradley Given Nod For No. 2 Rating

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Despite a one-point loss to Bradley last Saturday night Cincinnati retained its status as the nation's No. 1 basketball team today.

Bradley, whose thrilling last-minute 91-90 victory toppled the Bearcats from the unbeaten ranks, is ranked second by the nation's sportswriters and broadcasters in this week's Associated Press poll.

Cincinnati (13-1) gained 86 first-place votes while Bradley got 17. Cincinnati collected 1,691 points and Bradley 1,527.

Just a shade behind Bradley (12-1) is California (14-1) which drew 22 first-place votes and only 13 points less. West Virginia (15-1) whipped previously undefeated Villanova last Saturday and is fourth after being third last week. California also dropped a notch while Bradley jumped from fourth place.

Tiger Matmen Tangle with OSSB Unit

Circleville's wrestling squad goes for its sixth win in seven starts Saturday when the Ohio State School for the Blind comes here. Action starts at 2 p. m.

Coach John Current's bruising grapplers have won five in a row after dropping their season opener to Dayton Fairmont. Their latest triumph was a 50-5 route of Columbus Grandview here Friday.

Gaining pins in the Grandview match were Tim Mogan, David Troutman, Bob Owens, Gary Agin, Chuck McDowell, Ray Winner, Dave Smith, John Williams and Dave Huffer. Danny Leonhardt won for a forfeit.

Although Circleville ran off with the match, several good bouts sparked the competition. The OSSB encounter also should provide some interesting battles.

According to Coach Current the school for the blind has produced some strong teams in recent years.

Joe Gordon Says Tribe Looks Good

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of articles on major league baseball prospects for 1960 written under the manager's own byline.

By JOE GORDON

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — When a club finished a very good second as the Cleveland Indians did in 1959, the manager must certainly approach the next season in terms of hoping to win the pennant. I honestly feel that we have just as good chance as any other club.

Our picture is brightened by the improved infield defense. Now, if our young pitchers should improve at the normal rate you might expect of them, we certainly should have an exciting and interesting summer.

I am delighted with the changes we have made. The acquisition of a star of Johnny Temple's calibre and the addition of Bubba Phillips settles the infield "problem" that bothered us so much last year. With Vic Power at first, Temple at second, Woody Held at short and Phillips at third, we have the best infield in the league.

Tito Francona in left field and Rocky Colavito in right seem definite fixtures and either Jim Piersall or Carroll Hardy will be in center. It's possible Tito may not repeat his .363 average of last year but I honestly feel he did adjust his swing to the point where he now is a dangerous hitter, always able to hit well over .300.

Colavito hit 42 home runs and drove in 111 runs last year, following an equally productive year in '58. This indicates to me he will be among the majors' premier hitters for several seasons to come. Both Piersall and Hardy are top-flight fielders. The one who shows me the best hitting will win the job. Chuck Tanner and Don Dillard, a powerful left-handed hitter with great potential, are my outfield reserves.

Many folks think we might be somewhat thin in pitching now that Cal McLish is gone. There's no doubt we will miss Cal but I think our young pitchers will pick up the slack. Gary Bell who won 16 last year after winning 12 the year before should continue to improve. So should Jim Perry, who can become one of the great pitchers of the league. Bobby Locke and Jim Grant will also be better. I'm also counting on Jack Harshman.

Herb Score could pick us up if he pitched for a full season as he did in the first half of 1959 when he won nine games.

Johnny Romano, whom we obtained from Chicago and Russ Nixon give us two fine young catchers.

Next: Billy Rigney, San Francisco Giants.

Datyon Roosevelt, Van Del Stit Atop Ohio Cage Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-five Class AA high school state basketball championships have been decided since Datyon Roosevelt captured the laurels back in 1934.

That was the same year the famous Waterloo Wonders came out of the Lawrence County hills for the first of their smaller school titles. There was so much talk about the Wonders that fans hardly noticed the Roosevelt conquest—the last for a Gem City school.

But Roosevelt is on the prowl again, with a 12-0 record as compared with the 19-2 championship mark of a quarter-century ago. The Datyon powerhouse is atop the weekly Associated Press poll today for the second straight time, and is one of the few unblemished Class AA teams in the state.

Forty-one sports editors gave Roosevelt a rousing 283 points on the 10-9-8 etc. voting basis, 43 ahead of Cleveland East Tech, the state champion the last two years. Salem, in third place, is 86 points away.

Van Del, the little Van Wert County school with 13 in a row, held onto the lead in Class A, but Salem Local of Urbana is threatening. The Salem team has won 37 of its last 38, losing only to Lynnwood-Jackson in last year's state tournament semifinals, and has 10 straight this season.

Carthage-Troy with 15-0 moved to third from 11th in Class A, and other newcomers are New Boston and Lowellville with 9-0, and Stanton Local of Irondale with 9-2. The latter is the lone defeated team in the select Class A list.

Marietta and Newark, each defeated once, climbed into the Class AA Top 10 as Massillon and Elyria dropped out.

From here and there: Gustavus of Trumbull County ended its 59-game losing streak last Tuesday by beating non-victorious Bloomfield 52-45 with a last-quarter come-from-behind effort. They meet again tonight.

Mansfield's Tigers also salvaged something. The once-mighty school had lost 10 straight football games and seven in basketball until defeating Sandusky last week.

Edgerton's defending Class A state champs seem to be getting no place in the poll, garnering only 27 points for an 18th place tie—but the Kings have a 38-game winning streak still going.

Remember Jim Langhans of Willard, former Ohio State full-back standout? His son Jim is averaging 23.2 for Willard which has a 10-2 record. He's a 6-1 junior.

Gene Lane, 6-8 giant and only holdover from East Tech's title team, scored 28 against Cathedral Latin and 25 against Collinwood last week as the Scarabs ran their winning streak to nine after losing the opener. Jim Snowden, Youngstown's East's All-Ohio football end, set a new city scoring mark of 53 against Struthers last week.

Back in 1945 Russell Gregg was on the Ashville team which set the school record of 103 points and reached the state tournament semifinals when he made the all-tourney team. Now he's the Ashville coach, and Friday he watched his boys break the record with a 111-

46 win over Scioto Twp. He used his second and third team the final quarter, but they scored 38 in seven minutes.

Assistant Commissioner Bill Reed said today:

"The Athletic Assn. of Western Universities (California, Stanford, Washington, UCLA and Southern California) has been organized formally since the Big Ten's vote on the Rose Bowl and has signed an agreement as official host. The AAWU also has indicated it would like the Big Ten to be represented in the Rose Bowl.

"In view of the fact that the AAWU now has reached official status—which it hadn't before the Big Ten vote of 5-5 killed a contract renewal proposal—we want to determine if this is sufficiently a new matter to justify changing of positions and justify a new vote.

The contract for Big Ten representation in the Rose Bowl exhibition with the New Year's Day game which saw Washington wallop Wisconsin 44-8. Last May, the Big Ten failed to get the required majority to renew the contract as Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio State, Northwestern and Wisconsin voted against it.

If faculty men believe a new vote may be justified, it would be done at the March meetings. Athletic directors Sunday also will vote on a Big Ten football coaches' request to use the free substitution rule for conference games next season. If there is an affirmative vote, the matter will be put before faculty representatives for approval or disapproval.

Butler Jury Indicts Man in Bank Holdup

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Pleas M. Turner, 41, a factory tool and die maker who was shot in the head shortly after a holdup here last Jan. 4, has been indicted by the Butler County grand jury on a bank robbery charge. Police said all $2,250 taken from the Plaza branch of the First National Bank here has been recovered.

Rich Morton rang up 20 points in the second half to help Wilmington (6-4) overtake Berea.

Wilberforce (3-6) was the only Ohio team to venture out of the state. Kentucky State (11-4) broke out of a 14-14 deadlock and was never headed again.

Datyon Roosevelt, Van Del Still Atop Ohio Cage Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-five Class AA high school state basketball championships have been decided since Dayton Roosevelt captured the laurels back in 1934.

That was the same year the famous Waterloo Wonders came out of the Lawrence County hills for the first of their smaller school titles. There was so much talk about the Wonders that fans hardly noticed the Roosevelt conquest—the last for a Gem City school.

But Roosevelt is on the prowl again, with a 12-0 record as compared with the 19-2 championship mark of a quarter-century ago. The Dayton powerhouse is atop the weekly Associated Press poll today for the second straight time, and is one of the few unblemished Class AA teams in the state.

Forty-one sports editors gave Roosevelt a rousing 283 points on the 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, 43 ahead of Cleveland East Tech, the state champion the last two years, Salem, in third place, is 86 points away.

Van Del, the little Van Wert County school with 13 in a row, held onto the lead in Class A, but Salem Local of Urbana is threatening. The Salem team has won 37 of its last 38, losing only to Lynwood-Jackson in last year's state tourney semifinals, and has 10 straight this season.

Carthage-Troy with 15-0 moved to third from 11th in Class A, and other newcomers are New Boston and Lowellville with 9-0, and Stanton Local of Irondale with 9-2. The latter is the lone defeated team in the select Class A list.

Marietta and Newark, each defeated once, climbed into the Class AA Top 10 as Massillon and Elyria dropped out.

From here and there: Gustavus of Trumbull County ended its 59-game losing streak last Tuesday by beating non-victorious Bloomfield 52-45 with a last-quarter comeback from behind effort. They meet again tonight.

Mansfield's Tigers also salvaged something. The once-mighty school had lost 10 straight football games and seven in basketball until defeating Sandusky last week.

Edgerton's defending Class A state champs seem to be getting no place in the poll, garnering only 27 points for an 18th place tie—but the Kings have a 38-game winning streak still going.

Remember Jim Langhurst of Willard, former Ohio State full-back standout? His son Jim is averaging 23.2 for Willard which has a 10-2 record. He's a 6-1 junior.

Gene Lane, 6-8 giant and only holdover from East Tech's title team, scored 28 against Cathedral Latin and 25 against Collinwood last week as the Scarabs ran their winning streak to nine after losing the opener, Jim Snowden, Youngstown's All-Ohio football end, set a new city scoring mark of 53 against Struthers last week.

Back in 1945 Russell Gregg was on the Ashville team which set the school record of 103 points and reached the state tourney semifinals when he made the all-tourney team. Now he's the Ashville coach, and Friday he watched his boys break the record with a 111-

46 win over Scioto Twp. He used his second and third team the final quarter, but they scored 38 in seven minutes.

Conference faculty representatives and athletic directors will have a joint session in Chicago, primarily to evaluate the Rose Bowl in a new light before the annual March meetings in Columbus, Ohio.

Assistant Commissioner Bill Reed said today:

"The Athletic Assn. of Western Universities (California, Stanford, Washington, UCLA and Southern California) has been organized formally since the Big Ten's vote on the Rose Bowl and has signed an agreement as official host. The AAWU also has indicated it would like the Big Ten to be represented in the Rose Bowl.

"In view of the AAWU now has reached official status—which it hadn't before the Big Ten vote of 5-5 killed a contract renewal proposal—we want to determine if this is sufficiently a new matter to justify changing of positions and justify a new vote."

The contract for Big Ten representation in the Rose Bowl expired with the New Year's Day game which saw Washington wallop Wisconsin 44-8. Last May, the Big Ten failed to get the required majority to renew the contract as Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio State, Northwestern and Wisconsin voted against it.

If faculty men believe a new vote may be justified, it would be done at the March meetings.

Athletic directors Sunday also will vote on a Big Ten football coaches' request to use the free substitution rule for conference games next season. If there is an affirmative vote, the matter will be put before faculty representatives for approval or disapproval.

Butler Jury Indicts Man in Bank Holdup

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Pleas M. Turner, 41, a factory tool and die maker who was shot in the head shortly after a holdup here last Jan. 4, has been indicted by the Butler County grand jury on a bank robbery charge. Police said all $2,250 taken from the Plaza branch of the First National Bank here has been recovered.

Toledo (11-2) was out of Findlay's class. The Rockets roared to a 13-point lead in the opening minutes and toyed with the Oilers (7-3) the rest of the way.

Rich Morton rang up 20 points in the second half to help Wilmington (6-4) overtake Berea.

Wilberforce (3-6) was the only Ohio team to venture out of the state. Kentucky State (11-4) broke out of a 14-14 deadlock and was never headed again.

Ohio AFL-CIO Gives Its Appraisal of Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Last year's 103rd General Assembly was one of the best in many years, as far as the Ohio AFL-CIO is concerned. The organization said so in a 96-page analysis of the Democratic-controlled session made public today.

Although the report praised the Democratic legislators, the labor group said it must not be construed as a blanket endorsement of all the Democrats nor a blanket condemnation of all the Republicans.

"The worker has good friends in both parties," the AFL-CIO said. "The only way to decide who are our friends is to examine the voting record. This we have done. This will help the individual worker decide for himself which candidate deserves his support."

The organization discussed the voting records on 15 major pieces of legislation in the Senate and 14 in the House.

The AFL-CIO rated votes on the issues in three categories: Right, partial right and wrong.

Votes selected were on supplemental unemployment benefits, workmen's compensation, fair employment practices, health care, aid to the aged, four registration bills, check-off of dues for state employees, apprenticeship program, so-called labor reform bill, an anti-injunction bill and female working hours. Five senators, all Democrats, the AFL-CIO said, voted "right" on each of the 15 roll call votes. They were Majority Leader Frank King (Lucas), William Baker (Montgomery), Edward Dell (Butler), Charles Carney (Mahoning) and Ed Witmer (Stark).

Another Democrat, Frank Svoboda (Cuyahoga) voted right on all 13 tests for which he was present.

Nine other Democratic senators voted right on 14 of 15 votes, the AFL-CIO said. They were:

Sen. Stephen Olenick (D-Mahoning) voted right on each of the 11 roll calls he was present.

The Democratic senators who compiled the "weakest" records were Ray T. Miller Jr. (Cuyahoga), Fred Harter (Summit), Arthur Blake (Belmont) and J. Sherman Porter (Gallia).

Sen. Ross Pepple (R - Allen) topped the Republican senators with six "right," two "partial right" and five "wrong." Charles A. Mosher (Lorain) was second among the GOP delegation with six right, three partial right and six wrong.

The "worst" voting records among the Republicans were compiled by Minority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (Athens), William H. Daddens (Hamilton), Lowell Fess (Greene), Theodore M. Gray (Miami), Gordon Renner (Hamilton), Harry E. Schwall (Fulton) and Robert Shaw (Franklin).

Democrats also dominated the field in the Ohio House, the labor organization reported, adding that only one Republican—Guy Hiner (Stark)—"can be singled out for compiling an especially impressive voting record." Hiner voted "right" on 12 of 14 roll calls.

"No other Republican even came close to Hiner's record or compiled what could be called an over-all good voting record," the AFL-CIO said.

The record of Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr. (Hamilton) was singled out as one of the poorest among House Republicans. The AFL-CIO pointed out that Taft voted "wrong" on five measures and was absent when the other bills came up for a vote.

On the 14 test roll call votes in the House, there were 13 Democrats who voted right on each issue. They were:

Thomas J. Barrett (Mahoning), William Carney (Trumbull), William J. Donovan (Lucas), James T. Foley (Franklin), Thomas P. Gilmarin (Mahoning), Joseph J. Horvath (Cuyahoga), John Kovach (Cuyahoga), A. G. Lancione (Belmont), George E. Leist (Pike), David T. Mattia (Cuyahoga), Frank R. Pokorny (Cuyahoga), Francis F. Reno (Lucas) and G. D. Tablack (Mahoning).

Nine other Democrats had "perfect" records on the 13 votes they were present for. They were:

Frank J. Gorman (Cuyahoga), Jes P. Kilbane (Cuyahoga), Donald C. Nist Jr. (Stark), Anthony F. Novak (Cuyahoga), Francis C. Sullivan (Cuyahoga), Paul J. Lynch (Franklin), Hugh A. Corrigan (Cuyahoga), Mrs. Anna M. Donnelly (Cuyahoga) and Joseph Loha (Jefferson).

The AFL-CIO said Rep. Ralph Rudd (D-Lake) also should be credited with a perfect right voting record. Rudd voted against final passage of the workmen's compensation bill but his vote was a protest vote against compromises that were made to get the bill passed, it was explained. Rudd was absent for one roll call but voted right on all of the other 13 tests.

City Council tonight will be presented the new subdivision regulations, approved last week by the City Planning and Zoning Commission.

The regulations would give the city control of future subdivision layouts and facilities. They are a portion of the laws needed to implement a Master Plan for Circleville.

Tonight Council will be asked to set a public hearing on the subdivision regulations. According to law a 30-day notice of a public hearing is required before Council can act on the regulations.

Corn Clinic Set Thursday At Coliseum

OSU Specialists To Give Clues on Increased Yield

Corn production is big business in Ohio and in Pickaway County. In terms of market value, corn is Ohio's leading crop. Last year Ohio farmers grew 250,992,000 bushels of corn on 3,984,000 acres, an average of 63 bushels to the acre.

Pickaway County's share of the total was 4,978,000 bushels produced on 85,100 acres, reports County Agent George Hamrick. Because of the importance of corn in the farmers' income in this county, a corn production clinic is being held Thursday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum, Circleville.

The local clinic is one of 16 being held throughout Ohio in January and February. It is sponsored by the Ohio State University Department of Agronomy and the Agriculture Extension Service. Although designed primarily for corn producers in Pickaway County, the meeting is expected to interest farmers and County Extension Agents from neighboring counties who want to learn more about efficient corn production.

The meeting will start at 10 a. m. with County Agent George Hamrick, emphasizing some of the corn production problems in Pickaway County. Samuel W. Bone, extension agronomist, will discuss tillage, drainage, and soil features which contribute to the most efficient corn production.

Another extension agronomist, Dr. Lewis C. Saboe, will explain which corn hybrids carry the most resistance to corn leaf aphid and leaf diseases common to corn in Ohio. Corn leaf aphids damaged thousands of acres of corn in Ohio last year. The best known control at present is planting aphid resistant hybrids.

AGRONOMISTS maintain that improper corn planter adjustment is the main reason for low plant population in Ohio. Tests have shown corn yields can be increased 15 - 20 bushels an acre if proper plant population is obtained. This could increase farm income in Ohio by 50 million dollars a year.

Dr. Gordon J. Ryder, extension agronomist, will present information to show why farmer must set their corn planters for a 25 per cent over-planting in order to end up with a desired stand. About 12-15 per cent of the kernels calculated to be planted are never planted or are cracked in planting. Another 10-12 per cent of the plants die after germination due to bad weather, insects, diseases and other causes.

An extension fertility specialist will discuss the importance of a well planned fertility program in corn production. He will point out the fertilizer requirements of the corn crop for most efficient plant growth and production. A discussion of fertilizer materials, their distribution and placement, also will be included.

Extension agronomists agree that no one factor holds the key to successful corn production. With today's present cost-price squeeze, it is of utmost importance, they say, that farmers increase their production efficiency.

Everyone is invited to attend this Corn Production Clinic.

County Cancer Society Unit Sets Objectives for Drive

The Pickaway County Unit of the American Cancer Society today reported two major objectives of the direct appeal cancer crusade in 1960 will be to save lives by discovering undiagnosed cases of cancer and informing people on how they can combat the disease.

Mrs. G. Guy Campbell of the Pickaway Unit said a third objective is to raise more funds in 1960 to expand local programs of service and education.

She announced plans to mobilize more volunteers for a personal and direct approach to every household in the county during April.

"Thus, the volunteers will be doing a job of case finding will be alerting the public on how to strike back at cancer, and will accept voluntary contributions to push forward the American Cancer Society's program of research, education and service to cancer patients," she said.

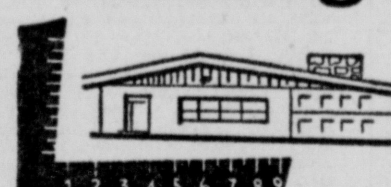

Mrs. Campbell, after attending a three-day state-wide cancer control planning meeting at the Neil House in Columbus, said the expansion of the Pickaway Unit's service and education program would play an important part in achieving the society's immediate goal of saving 265,000 lives in 1960.

MONROE

By Marie Dingus
In the First Grade many of us have had to be absent from school because of influenza and bad colds. We have out spelling and writing workbooks now. We like them very much.

Because of the rainy days, the boys and girls have enjoyed the coloring books and games they got for Christmas. We brought our dimes in for the March of Dimes campaign this week.

The biology class had finished studying amphibian animals and are ready to start on hominids after taking semester tests.

After a brief vacation the home economics class is working to finish up skirt projects. Next in the future is the planning for a Home Economics field trip next month.

THE EIGHTH Grade science class has finished its semester tests and are ready to proceed on a unit on "Water." Many interesting class experiments are anticipated.

The Seventh Grade has completed their study of geography, have taken their semester tests and are ready to take up the first half of American history.

In physical education girls need to take care of any excess energy as well as keep their physical beings in condition. They have a natural tendency to become flabby since they do not participate regularly in sports, so they have followed the boys lead and have taken up tumbling in physical education.

Even among the groans, tears and soreness they have come out a happy, enthusiastic group of young ladies.

Don't forget the Ham Supper sponsored by the Sophomore Class, to be held in the Monroe Twp. School auditorium, January 28. We will be serving from 5 to 8 p. m.

Our menu will be tossed salad, baked ham, scalloped potatoes, mixed vegetables, hot rolls, butter, pie and plenty of hot coffee.

Ohio AFL-CIO Gives Its Appraisal of Legislature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Last year's 103rd General Assembly was one of the best in many years, as far as the Ohio AFL-CIO is concerned. The organization said so in a 96-page analysis of the Democratic-controlled session made public today.

Although the report praised the Democratic legislators, the labor group said it must not be construed as a blanket endorsement of all the Democrats nor a blanket condemnation of all the Republicans.

"The worker has good friends in both parties," the AFL-CIO said. "The only way to decide who are our friends is to examine the voting record. This we have done. This will help the individual worker decide for himself which candidate deserves his support."

The organization discussed the voting records on 15 major pieces of legislation in the Senate and 14 in the House.

The AFL-CIO rated votes on the issues in three categories: Right, partial right and wrong.

Votes selected were on supplemental unemployment benefits, workmen's compensation, fair employment practices, health care, aid to the aged, four registration bills, check-off of dues for state employees, apprenticeship program, so-called labor reform bill, an anti-injunction bill and female working hours.

Five senators, all Democrats, the AFL-CIO said, voted "right" on each of the 15 roll call votes. They were Majority Leader Frank King (Lucas), William Baker (Montgomery), Edward Dell (Butler), Charles Carney (Mahoning) and Ed Witmer (Stark).

Another Democrat, Frank Svoboda (Cuyahoga) voted right on all 13 tests for which he was present.

Nine other Democratic senators voted right on 14 of 15 votes, the AFL-CIO said. They were: John Corrigan (Cuyahoga), Anthony Calabrese (Cuyahoga), Milton Cox (Lake), Danny Johnson (Tuscarawas), Oliver O'Casey (Summit), Thomas O'Shaughnessy (Franklin), Julius Petrasch (Cuyahoga), Eugene Sawicki (Cuyahoga) and John Smith (Montgomery).

The record of Rep. Robert A. Taft Jr. (Hamilton) was singled out as one of the poorest among House Republicans. The AFL-CIO pointed out that Taft voted "wrong" on five measures and was absent when the other bills came up for a vote.
